

PD800W CORDLESS PHASING TESTER

Featuring state-of-the-art wireless technology, the PD800W Cordless Phasing Tester effectively and easily operates in multiple applications including phasing, voltage detection, phase sequencing and phase angle detection.

Designed to operate like a conventional phasing tester, but does not require an interconnect cable or extension resistors. Each set consists of two units: 1) Reference Probe (Transmitter) and 2) Meter Probe (Receiver).

Basic Functions:

- Cordless Phasing Tester - Capacitive test points - 800kV
- Phase Sequencing & Phase Angle Indicator - Identifies phase relationships with indicating lights and in degrees of separation. Automatically alerts user of the existence of Delta/Wye transformations. Can be used to tie utility systems and congeneration plants together.
- Voltage Detector - 4kV - 69kV
- Operating Range - 70 ft.

Both the Reference Probe and the Meter Probe (Fig. 1) have a five position selector switch (Fig. A) on the probe face that controls different operating modes:

Meter Probe (Fig. B) features a large digital display with backlight and easy-to-read high intensity color coded indicator lights. Readings are displayed in kV and in degrees. Reference Probe (Fig. C) features high intensity indicator light for high visibility.
